Discipline Policy

One of our main goals here at Play 'N' Learn is to help each child develop self-control. This is particularly important as it relates to discipline. We recognize that each child is different and will react differently to each of these methods. Therefore, there may be some variation as to the application of these techniques if we feel that one method is more effective than another for helping a child cope with a difficult situation.

On a daily basis, we expect that the children in our care will show respect to each other, their teachers and their parents. They should not call names, make rude faces, throw tantrums or physically hurt anyone in our center. Along the same lines, children will be expected to conduct themselves in a manner that is safe and will not bring harm to themselves. The school has set a number of "common-sense" safety rules to keep the playgrounds and classrooms safe for all children. It is expected that all children will follow these rules. If a Child or Children breaks one or more of these rules, we will take the following steps to correct the behavior.

Step One: The Child or Children will be reminded of the school rules in a positive manner. (Johnny, you may walk while in line or Jane, you can put away the toys carefully.)

Step Two: The Child or Children will have the situation or rules explained to them. (Johnny, when you run in line it knocks the other children down and hurts them or Jane, when you throw the toys into the container, it breaks our toys.) At this point, the Child or Children may be asked to apologize or make amends for their behavior.

Step Three: If the Child or Children continue the behavior, they will be redirected to another activity. If they were playing inappropriately with the blocks (throwing them), then they will be moved to the coloring station or other alternative activity.

Step Four: If a Child or Children continue the behavior, they will be placed in a "time-out" separate from the other children or toys that the behavior involved. While in "time-out" the teacher will speak with the child or children regarding their behavior and explain why it is inappropriate.

Step Five: If the Child or Children refuse to listen during "time-out" or continue to be disruptive to the other class members, they will be removed from class and taken to the front desk of the school. There the Administrators will speak to the Child or Children regarding the behavior and explain what the consequences are if they continue. At this point, the Administrator may elect to call the Child's or Children's parents for reinforcement over the phone.

Step Six: There are times when the behavior of a child or parent crosses the lines of what is acceptable at a facility in which we must care for and protect the safety and well-being of children. In these circumstances, Play 'N' Learn reserves the right to dismiss any child or parent that it feels is not willing or able to conform to the policies of our facility. We may or may not give advance notice of the dismissal. The personal judgment of the Director, Administrator or Owner will be used in the evaluation of the individual circumstances pertaining to the dismissal.

Every employee of Play N Learn Preschool is a mandated Child Protective Services (CPS) reporter. This means that if we witness any corporal punishment of a child, or possible evidence of such on a child, we are mandated to report the incident (or the possible evidence) to CPS. Children are never to be spanked, hit or physically disciplined while on our premises.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION FOR PARENTS

CAREGIVER BACKGROUND CHECK PROCESS CALIFORNIA DEPARTMENT OF SOCIAL SERVICES

The California Department of Social Services works to protect the safety of children in child care by licensing child care centers and family child care homes. Our highest priority is to be sure that children are in safe and healthy child care settings. California law requires a background check for any adult who owns, lives in, or works in a licensed child care home or center. Each of these adults must submit fingerprints so that a background check can be done to see if they have any history of crime. If we find that a person has been convicted of a crime other than a minor traffic violation, he/she cannot work or live in the licensed child care home or center unless approved by the Department. This approval is called an exemption.

A person convicted of a crime such as murder, rape, torture, kidnapping, crimes of sexual violence or molestation against children cannot by law be given an exemption that would allow them to own, live in or work in a licensed child care home or center. If the crime was a felony or a serious misdemeanor, the person must leave the facility while the request is being reviewed. If the crime is less serious, he/she may be allowed to remain in the licensed child care home or center while the exemption request is being reviewed.

How the Exemption Request is Reviewed

We request information from police departments, the FBI and the courts about the person's record. We consider the type of crime, how many crimes there were, how long ago the crime happened and whether the person has been honest in what they told us.

The person who needs the exemption must provide information about:

- The crime
- What they have done to change their life and obey the law
- Whether they are working, going to school, or receiving training
- Whether they have successfully completed a counseling or rehabilitation program

The person also gives us reference letters from people who aren't related to them who know about their history and their life now.

We look at all these things very carefully in making our decision on exemptions. By law this information cannot be shared with the public.

How to Obtain More Information

As a parent or authorized representative of a child in licensed child care, you have the right to ask the licensed child care home or center whether anyone working or living there has an exemption. If you request this information, and there is a person with an exemption, the child care home or center must tell you the person's name and how he or she is involved with the home or center and give you the name, address, and telephone number of the local licensing office. You may also get the person's name by contacting the local licensing office. You may find the address and phone number on our website. The website address is http://ccl.dss.cahwnet.gov/RegionalOf_1829.htm
